Sacramento Public Library is seeking candidates for our Library Supervisor II position. If you are committed to public service, comfortable with providing programming for all ages, and yearn for the opportunity to grow in a supervisory career path, this is an excellent opportunity for you. We are creating a new eligibility list that will be used to staff Library Supervisor II openings that occur in the next 6-12 months.

As the fourth largest library system in the state of California, Sacramento Public Library has been serving the Sacramento region for almost 150 years. We embrace our California roots, weaving technology and innovation into the fabric of the services we provide the community. The public has taken notice of our success, whether for starting the I Street Press, a publishing center that helps aspiring writers get their stories out, or hosting an annual summit focused on the necessity of play to nurture children. The Library of Things, which checks out guitars, synthesizers, lawn equipment, sewing machines, cameras and more available to the public, has been the focus of media attention, helping the community to discover the library in new ways — discoveries that lead to learning opportunities, which in turn lead to personal and community growth.

Sacramento Public Library is sought-after because of our focus on innovation, the quality of our programming and our commitment to not just provide services, but to meet community members where they need it most. We hope you'll join us on our journey to inspire the community to discover, learn and grow.
