Research Associate (Part Time, Location Flexible) NPAG - Nonprofit Professionals Advisory Group LLC www.nonprofitprofessionals.com OVERVIEW NPAG is an executive search and consulting firm dedicated to serving the mission-driven community. We partner with best-in-class nonprofit organizations nationally and globally to find executive-level leaders who are helping to find innovative solutions to our most pressing social problems. We believe that leadership matters, and we are privileged to advance our clients' missions through our work. Our clients come from all corners of the non-profit sector ranging from health, education, human services, environment, philanthropy, social justice, and the arts to issue specific research, policy development, and advocacy. NPAG provides leadership, advice, and counsel through the custom design and execution of a tailored search strategy, built to address the unique needs of our clients. Our success is evident in the high quality and long-term partnerships we have built with some of the most innovative and impactful mission-driven organizations in the United States, as well as globally. We have also been recognized for the success of our 100% virtual consulting model, which allows us to provide higher quality, lower cost, and fully flexible services to our clients across the country and the globe, while also offering employees a creative, energetic, and family-friendly work place. Over the past 15 years, NPAG has experienced significant growth in the depth and sophistication of our partnerships and searches. In addition, we have worked to strategically invest in our internal capacity, including implementing upgraded database services, enhancing our benefits program, launching a new website, and making key hires to support our growth. In that vein, NPAG now seeks a talented and creative Research Associate to help enhance our existing research and data infrastructure. Specifically, the Research Associate will partner with NPAG's search teams to develop a network strategy for each project which will identify mid- and senior-level executives to serve as prospective candidates for our clients' positions and/or key advisors to our clients at critical transition points in their leadership. The Research Associate will conduct extensive research to locate and identify individuals whose qualifications and experience parallel our clients' needs. Additionally, the Research Associate will assist the team with critical research documents and reports to be delivered to our clients. Applicants must hold a college degree and be highly self-motivated, detail-oriented, intellectually agile, quick-thinking, and boundlessly curious. Additionally, the ideal candidate will have several years work experience in the mission driven sector, highly-developed research skills, comfort working flexible hours as needed (approximately 10-25 hours per week), and a strong personal commitment and understanding of the various segments that make up the nonprofit community. OPPORTUNITIES AND CHALLENGES FOR THE RESEARCH ASSOCIATEAs NPAG's research efforts have grown in scale and sophistication, the work of our Research Associates has become central to many of the firm's activities. Reporting to the Vice President and Managing Partner, the new Research Associate will deepen the capacity and expertise of NPAG's research team to ensure each search launches with a high quality universe of prospective candidates that will yield a diverse and highly-qualified candidate pool. The firm will rely heavily on the new Research Associate to craft appropriate research strategies, suggest creative avenues to acquire accurate information, and take the lead in executing and managing the research cycle for each search engagement. The main tasks the Research Associate will be charged to complete include:

- Interfacing effectively with NPAG clients, Vice Presidents, and Associates at the beginning of each new search to determine the parameters of the search, the candidate profile sought, and both the traditional and nontraditional networks from which the successful candidate might come.
- Developing target research lists, market maps, and organizational charts as the basis for a networking and outreach strategy; closely managing progress as the team compiles networking and outreach lists as well as paid and free advertising target sites.
- Skillfully applying a mixture of telephone and desk-based (database, Internet, publications, etc.) research activities to each search; managing complex data entry and analysis while ensuring a consistently high level of information management.
- Assisting in the management and integrity of our database which codifies and captures knowledge and connections developed throughout the firm.

- Delivering client-ready candidate research documents to highlight candidate profiles throughout the search process.
- Producing reports and analysis documents to assist in scandal scanning of potential candidates.
- Keeping NPAG leadership abreast of major sector changes and developments identified during client-driven research to ensure the firm continues to be a thought leader in the mission driven world.
- Participating in company-wide meetings and discussion about systems development and ongoing quality improvement to ensure NPAG benefits from the collective wisdom of all its team members.

QUALITIES OF THE IDEAL CANDIDATE Ideal candidates will possess both a strong working knowledge of research and information management as well as knowledge of or expertise within the mission-driven sector. Qualified candidates must have highly refined research skills, be capable of broad and deep critical thinking, and have the ability to learn quickly and problem-solve effectively in a fast-moving, technology-dependent environment. The new Research Associate will work with NPAG through a flexible contract arrangement and will bring a high level of energy, motivation, and discipline to his/her work.

Additionally, s/he will have:

- A bachelor's degree and at least three years of work experience in the nonprofit, academic, or other mission-driven community; or experience providing research within an executive search firm or human resources / talent acquisition team.
- Exceptional research capabilities, a high level of comfort with research technology combined with the savvy to know when to simply 'Google' for information, and the ability to translate superb research into easily understandable presentations to clients.
- The ability to work independently and to problem-solve effectively balanced with the wisdom to know when to seek guidance.
- Strong detail-orientation and an unfailing commitment to and pride in quality work.
- Fluency and facility with web-based technology such as search engines, shared calendars, instant messaging, and databases, and both comfort and ability working effectively in a virtual environment.
- Boundless curiosity and a tried and tested approach to research that believes there are no dead-ends, only other roads to pursue.
- Availability during Eastern standard time business hours for meetings and real-time communication (project work schedule is flexible).
- Ability to work flexible hours, between approximately 10 and 25 per week.
- A collegial, team-oriented working style.
- Modesty to accept guidance as needed.
- A healthy sense of humor and appreciation for creativity and fun in the workplace.

TO APPLY Applications including a cover letter describing your interest and qualifications and resume (in Word format) should be submitted to careers@nonprofitprofessionals.com.
