Director of Talking Book Services South Carolina State Library Columbia, SC/ Columbia combines all the graces of the rich past with the vibrance of the emerging Sun Belt. It's the state capital and home to a major university. One of America's outstanding zoos, Riverbanks Zoo and Botanical Gardens, is just minutes from the state capital. The State Museum also tells the colorful history of South Carolina. If you like water sports, Lake Murray is a 50,000-acre playground less than 15 minutes from the heart of the city. The South Carolina State Library is the primary administrator of federal and state support for the state's libraries. SCSL bears responsibility for public library development, service for the blind and physically handicapped, and library service to state government agencies. The Agency is a locus for collaborative library endeavors of all kinds and works closely with the University of South Carolina's School of Library and Information Science. Headquartered in downtown Columbia, SCSL is well-supported with state and federal funds. We serve the people of South Carolina by supporting state government and libraries to provide opportunities for learning in a changing environment. The State Library succeeds because of the people we employ: Passionate professionals who believe South Carolina library users deserve first-rate resources, services, and support. We are seeking talented, enthusiastic individuals who wish to join us in making a contribution to the development of great public libraries. The South Carolina State Library is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer. Nature of Work: The South Carolina State Library is seeking a creative, detail-oriented person with excellent customer service skills for the Director of Talking Book Services position. This position oversees the Talking Books Services Department, under the division of Statewide Development, comprised of library staff responsible for the development and execution of statewide library service programs for persons with qualifying disabilities.

Examples of Work: The Director of Talking Book services will conduct a range of tasks with responsibilities which include:

- Plan a public service program of reader advisory, programming, and reference assistance to support the South Carolina State Library mission and goals, and the National Library Service.
- Act as liaison to the National Library Service and other national, regional, state, and local organizations.
- Provide outreach to community/special interest and library organizations serving client groups.
- Speak and exhibit at events and meetings to promote Talking Books Services.
- Provide direct services to customers of the Talking Book Services program through reader advisors, reference, and other duties.
- Provide special programs to reach different age groups of the current users of the service.
- Train and/or assist Inclusive Services staff and programs as needed.
- Supervise multiple employees.
- Participate in leadership team and agency wide efforts.

The South Carolina State Library is the primary administrator of federal and state support for the state's libraries. Headquartered in Columbia, S.C., the State Library develops, supports, and sustains a thriving statewide community of learners committed to making South Carolina stronger. We serve the people of South Carolina by supporting state government and libraries to provide opportunities for learning in a changing environment.

Salary: Hiring Range: $50,000 - $65,000 Minimum and Additional Requirements:

- A masters' degree in library science from an American Library Association accredited college or university
- Minimum six (6) years professional library experience, three (3) of which should be in a public services or library services for the handicapped
- Experience relevant to the duties for the position.
- Knowledge of principles, practices, and objectives of state library programs and of library services and programs for persons with disabilities
- Considerable experience using automated library systems
- Thorough knowledge of administrative policies and procedures for library public services programs
- General knowledge of equal employment practices
- Ability to coordinate, plan, and direct work of professional and technical staff
- Communicate effectively (orally and in writing); strong comfort level with public speaking to groups large and small
- Strong writing skills (writing sample is required – see additional comments)
- Prepare and deliver presentations to various audiences and visual presentations
- Organize and present through reports
- Establish partnerships
- Strong management and analytical skills

Additional Comments: As an EEO/Affirmative Action Employer all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, age (over 40), sex, including pregnancy and childbirth (or related medical conditions), sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, or veteran status. The State Library actively promotes professional development and learning opportunities for staff. Work takes place in an office environment. No physically demanding requirements, but ability to retrieve library materials is essential. Must vary daily work schedule as departmental operations dictate. Requires some travel; limited overnight or out-of-town travel.

- Supplemental questions are considered part of your official application. Any misrepresentation will result in your disqualification from consideration for employment.

- Please complete the state application to include all current and previous work/salary history and education. A resume will not be accepted nor reviewed in lieu of a completed state application to determine if an applicant has met the qualifications for the position.
- Please include a cover letter, resume, and three professional references. Also include a sample of your professional writing of at least two pages, on any topic related to public library interests. Reference and background check will be conducted.
