Information Literacy Coordinator / California State University-Channel Islands/ California State University Channel Islands is seeking a super fabulous librarian to join our growing team. Here are some quick FAQs: What does the official job thingy say? Information Literacy Coordinator (Tenure Track): Promote, coordinate, and assess CI's information literacy program to ensure quality and continuously improve student learning. Conduct information literacy activities including; course related instruction, workshops, and point of need one-on-one help to assist students, faculty, and staff using in person and online methodologies. Participate in faculty and student outreach with an eye to curricular integration, and provide both in person and online reference and research services that ensure student success. Share expertise and best practices with colleagues inside and outside the library to build creative library services and collection, meet university goals and priorities, provide unparalleled service, and sustainable systems. Shorter version: come and be your fabulous, engaged, instruction-loving self; we will provide the dedicated fellow librarians, enthusiastic teaching faculty, and students in need of instruction.

Does CSU Channel Islands have a cooler mission than my current institution?

Of course and its short! Placing students at the center of the educational experience, California State University Channel Islands provides undergraduate and graduate education that facilitates learning within and across disciplines through integrative approaches, emphasizes experiential and service learning, and graduates students with multicultural and international perspectives. (That is the short version. But we mean it – our four pillars of international, multicultural, interdisciplinary, and experiential learning perspectives infuse everything we do.)

I rock and am definitely not your typical librarian, could I still be an asset to the team?

Absolutely! CI is committed to recruiting individuals who are dedicated to furthering inclusive excellence in our campus community. We seek to enhance our diverse University population, welcoming people from all backgrounds, to sustain an environment in which all can thrive, create, work and learn.

(My note: Everyone invited! Also, CSUCI is an HSI: a Hispanic Serving Institution. Nearly half of our students identify as Latino/a/x.)

Will I be alone in my love of all things information literacy and instruction?

Don't be silly. Almost all CI librarians provide library instruction, and all tenure track librarians and the dean teach credit courses cross-listed with other disciplines such as Business, Communication, English, Freedom and Justice Studies, and Political Science. (I'm the current person in this position, and it's true. My dean begs me to give her classes to teach. Come here and have your boss beg you, it's a pretty cool perk.)

Does the job require for me to have a fight for your right to be information literate tattoo or theme song?

No, but it would certainly help J

What happened to the last person in the job?

Actually, I currently hold the position. We're searching for my replacement so that I can slide over and expand library services in a different area as we increase our faculty both in the library and across the university generally. Feel free to ask me any questions (that I'm ethically allowed to answer, since I'm on the search committee).

My short answer is that I absolutely love this job and the people, our teaching faculty are crazy in love with our instruction program, and our students adore us for helping them maneuver through their research needs.
